THE BOARD OF DISCIPLINARY APPEALS
APPOINTED BY THE SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS

August 31, 2005

The Honorable Chief Justice and Justices of the Supreme Court of Texas
Eduardo R. Rodriguez, Esq., President, State Bar of Texas
Tom Godbold, Chair of the Board of Directors of the State Bar of Texas

On behalf of the Board of Disciplinary Appeals, I am pleased to submit this report to the Supreme Court of Texas and to the Board of Directors of the State Bar of Texas on the activities of the Board of Disciplinary Appeals. The report describes BODA membership and staff, jurisdiction and operations, and all case dockets. Through the dedication of its members and staff, BODA continues to dispose of almost 3,000 attorney discipline cases annually, keeping all dockets current.

BODA continues efforts to disseminate decisions and information about the substantive rules and disciplinary procedure to assist attorneys and the public. The BODA Web site, www.txboda.org, contains a searchable database of recent past public decisions, and we are in the process of expanding that database. During 2004 BODA issued the first two memorandum opinions which are also available on the Web site. BODA continues to study additional possibilities for publishing abstracts on its application of the TEXAS DISCIPLINARY RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT. BODA members and staff also participate in continuing legal education and other programs to educate the Bar and the public about BODA, the rules of professional conduct, and the disciplinary system generally.

As my two years as chairman of BODA ends, I would like to thank the Court, both personally and on behalf of each BODA member, for the opportunity to serve on the Board of Disciplinary Appeals and to help maintain the highest standard of legal professionalism in Texas. Service on BODA requires many hours of time every month, which its members provide without compensation. We are honored to serve the Court, the legal profession, and the citizens of Texas as members of the Board of Disciplinary Appeals.

Because of the time commitment involved and the fact that board members rotate on and off the Board, BODA would not be able to effectively serve the Court and the profession without the remarkable service and dedication of the BODA staff. Their experience and commitment are critical to BODA's work.

We are available to discuss this report or BODA generally, provide any additional information, or answer any questions.

Respectfully submitted,

Chairman, 2003-2005

BODA Overview

I. Authority

Every lawyer admitted to practice in Texas or specially admitted is subject to the disciplinary and disability jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Texas.<sup>1</sup> Through its inherent power to regulate the practice of law, the Supreme Court of Texas has delegated certain power to the Board of Disciplinary Appeals (“BODA”) to hear and decide disciplinary matters.<sup>2</sup> The Supreme Court appointed the first members to the Board of Disciplinary Appeals (“BODA”) February 12, 1991, as part of the promulgation of the TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE (“TRDP”).<sup>3</sup> The board became fully operational May 1, 1992.<sup>4</sup> All BODA members are attorneys.

With Sunset changes to TEX. GOVERNMENT CODE § 81.001 et seq. effective September 1, 2003, BODA became part of the revised State Bar Act disciplinary and disability procedure.<sup>5</sup>

BODA is a state-wide judicial body with original and appellate jurisdiction to hear six types of attorney discipline and disability matters. In hearing and determining disciplinary proceedings, BODA exercises all the powers of either a trial court or appellate court, respectively.<sup>6</sup> BODA reviews grievance classification screening dismissals by the State Bar Chief Disciplinary Counsel’s office, decides appeals from State Bar district grievance committee evidentiary judgments, has exclusive original jurisdiction to hear compulsory and reciprocal discipline cases, hears petitions to revoke probations imposed by grievance committees, and handles attorney disability cases. BODA also promotes consistency in interpreting the substantive and procedural rules governing disciplinary matters.

BODA deliberations are confidential. Because it is an extension of the judicial branch of government, BODA is not subject to the Open Meetings or Open Records Acts.<sup>7</sup> BODA proposes rules of procedure and administration for its own operation to the Supreme Court of Texas for promulgation. BODA revised its internal rules extensively in 2004 to reflect the changes in the State Bar Act and TRDP, provide more flexibility in setting hearings, model the rules governing appellate cases after the TEXAS RULES OF APPELLATE PROCEDURE, refine procedures for disability matters, and clarify certain rules.

All BODA decisions, with the exception of classification screening decisions which are final, are appealable directly to the Supreme Court.

II. Membership

BODA began with nine attorney members in 1992. Due to its heavy caseload, BODA gained three additional members effective October 1, 1994, and members became eligible to serve two consecutive terms.

BODA members represent all areas of the state as well as areas of practice. Members serving in 2004-2005 include attorneys from Austin (2), Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas (2), Fort Worth, Houston (2), Lubbock, Temple, and Seguin. Practice concentrations include civil trial, administrative, appellate, business and commercial litigation, corporate securities, corporate in-house counsel, criminal prosecution and defense, family law, personal injury, and toxic tort. Members' firms include the full range of size from solo practitioners to multi-state firms. In addition to members in private practice, BODA members include a former District Attorney, in-house counsel, and federal public defender. Approximately one-half of the members have previous experience working in the disciplinary system.

Service on BODA requires a substantial time commitment from each member who reads an average of 60 to 70 classification appeals and participates in two telephone conferences monthly. In addition, members read case files and records as well as conference memos to prepare for hearings in Austin. BODA's consistent record of timely case disposition would not be possible without the dedication of its members who serve without compensation.

BODA Members 2004-2005

S. Jack Balagia, Jr., Houston, Chairman, September 1, 2003 to present

JACK BALAGIA is the Assistant General Counsel, Litigation, for ExxonMobil Corporation in Houston, Texas. ---

Brigette Bertrand, Executive Assistant

Brigette Bertrand joined the BODA staff in 1999 and assists with all aspects of office management, docket control, and meeting and travel arrangements.

Jackie Truitt, Administrative Assistant

Jackie Truitt joined the BODA staff in 2000 and has primary responsibility for classification appeals from intake through disposition. She also responds to numerous telephone inquiries for information and assistance.

III. Caseload and Meetings

BODA decides over 200 matters monthly<sup>8</sup>, consistently maintaining current dockets for all types of cases. Classification appeals are decided by panels of three members in telephone conference twice weekly to keep pace with the classification filings.

	Filings	Dispositions	Meetings
2004 - 2005	2,713	2,673	91
2003 - 2004	3,103	3,213	105
2002 - 2003	3,153	3,289	112
2001 - 2002	3,072	2,993	104
2000 - 2001	2,863	2,876	96
1999 - 2000	2,728	2,790	95
1998 - 1999	2,618	2,648	88
1997 - 1998	2,586	2,633	92
1996 - 1997	2,553	2,657	97
1995 - 1996	2,606	2,610	101
1994 - 1995	2,584	2,667	103

In addition to panel conferences, BODA meets en banc in Austin approximately six times a year to hold hearings for compulsory and reciprocal cases, revocations of probation, and any other matter requiring a hearing. BODA also hears oral argument in appeals from evidentiary judgments en banc, decides classification appeals referred to the full board, deliberates, and discusses administrative matters. Any BODA matter may be heard en banc or be assigned to a panel of three members.

BODA Jurisdiction and Operations

I. Original Jurisdiction

Compulsory Discipline Overview

Since the adoption of the first State Bar Act in 1939, the Texas attorney disciplinary scheme has provided for suspension or disbarment based solely on the fact of a criminal conviction for a “felony involving moral turpitude or a misdemeanor involving the theft, embezzlement, or fraudulent appropriation of money or other property.” Prior to adoption of the TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE, the State Bar initiated the proceeding in district court in the county of the attorney’s residence. Part VIII of the TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE gives BODA exclusive original jurisdiction to hear compulsory cases. Compulsory cases have to date comprised the majority of BODA hearings.

The TRDP direct the Chief Disciplinary Counsel of the State Bar to file compulsory discipline charges with BODA on behalf of the Commission for Lawyer Discipline when learning that an attorney has been convicted of an Intentional Crime. “Intentional Crime” includes any “Serious Crime” requiring proof of knowledge or intent as an essential element and any crime involving misapplication of money or other property held as a fiduciary. “Serious Crime” includes barratry, any felony involving moral turpitude (per se), any misdemeanor involving theft, embezzlement, or fraudulent or reckless misappropriation of money or other property, or any attempt, conspiracy, or solicitation of another to commit any of the foregoing. For purposes of compulsory discipline, an order of deferred adjudication also constitutes a conviction. No statute of limitations exists for compulsory action.

Not all felony convictions subject a Texas attorney to compulsory discipline. The definition excludes any felony requiring only recklessness. The Supreme Court of Texas has held that, in the context of attorney discipline, crimes of moral turpitude must involve dishonesty, fraud, deceit, misrepresentation, or deliberate violence, or must reflect adversely on an attorney’s honesty, trustworthiness, or fitness as an attorney. In re Lock, 54 S.W.3d 305, 308 (Tex. 2001). “A lack of fitness is indicated most clearly by a persistent inability to discharge, or unreliability in carrying out, significant obligations.” Id. BODA cannot examine underlying conduct resulting in the conviction to determine whether the crime is an Intentional Crime.

BODA hears compulsory cases en banc and sits as a trial court. Cases are routinely set for the next available en banc date at least 21 days after the date the petition is filed and pending service on the respondent attorney. The attorney must be served with the petition and notified of the hearing at least 21 days prior to the hearing. BODA may continue a compulsory hearing for good cause. However, the fact that the criminal conviction is being appealed is not grounds for delaying the hearing.

Compulsory cases, although based on a criminal conviction, are civil proceedings. Respondents are not entitled as a matter of right to be present at the hearing or to have an attorney appointed to represent them. Compulsory disciplinary proceedings do not allow a jury trial. The average time for BODA to hear and decide a compulsory case from the filing of the petition until judgment is 107 days.

The CDC must prove by the greater weight of the credible evidence the conviction, the nature of the offense, the punishment received, and the identity of the respondent. The conviction, which conclusively establishes the attorney's guilt, may be proved by a certified copy of the judgment of conviction or order of deferred adjudication.

If the criminal conviction for an offense determined to be an Intentional Crime is not fully probated, the Board must disbar the attorney. In any case in which the attorney convicted received a fully probated sentence (either "straight" probation or deferred adjudication), the Board has the discretion either to suspend the attorney for the concurrent term of the criminal probation or to disbar. A respondent eligible for suspension may offer evidence in mitigation to support a plea for suspension.

If a suspended attorney has his criminal probation revoked before completing the term, resulting in incarceration, disbarment is mandatory, and the CDC will so petition BODA. If a term of probation is terminated early, it does not automatically result in a termination of the suspension.

If the criminal conviction is on appeal at the time of the compulsory decision, the Board may nevertheless suspend the attorney pending the disposition of the appeal. By issuing an interlocutory order of suspension, the Board retains jurisdiction to enter a final order when the appeal concludes. The interlocutory order also states what the final judgment will be - either suspension or disbarment - in the event that the conviction is affirmed. If, at the conclusion of the appeal the conviction is affirmed, the CDC must file a motion for entry of final judgment to conclude the compulsory case. If the attorney does not dispute the finality of the conviction when the motion for final judgment is filed, the Board may enter that judgment without a hearing.

If the conviction is overturned on appeal, the Board will terminate the suspension when the attorney files a motion containing a certified copy of a mandate or published opinion. The Board cannot, however, reinstate an attorney's license, which is held by the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The attorney must first comply with all other licensing requirements and satisfy the State Bar membership department that all dues, occupational taxes, and continuing legal education requirements are current before receiving his license and bar card.

Compulsory proceedings are not exclusive. The State Bar may also pursue a grievance proceeding under Part II of the TRDP against the attorney based on the underlying conduct which resulted in the conviction if it constitutes professional misconduct under the TDRPC. The attorney may be disciplined in each proceeding, unless disbarment in one renders the other moot. If the conviction does not involve an Intentional Crime, the State Bar can only pursue discipline, if any, through the standard grievance process.

Compulsory decisions are appealable directly to the Supreme Court. The party desiring to appeal must file the notice of appeal with the Clerk of the Supreme Court within 14 days of receiving the BODA judgment. BODA prepares and files the clerk's record with the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court may decide appeals from BODA compulsory decisions with or without opinion. To date, compulsory appeals are the only disciplinary appeals from BODA on which the Court has issued opinions.

Reciprocal Discipline Cases

BODA has exclusive original jurisdiction pursuant to Part IX of the TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE to hear petitions for reciprocal discipline filed by the State Bar Chief Disciplinary Counsel's office on behalf of the Commission for Lawyer Discipline. Reciprocal discipline arises when an attorney licensed both in Texas and in another jurisdiction is disciplined in the second jurisdiction. Reciprocal hearings are governed by Section 7 of the BODA Internal Procedural Rules.

After the CDC initiates the case by filing a petition including a certified copy of the order or judgment of discipline from the other jurisdiction, BODA issues an Order to Show Cause requiring the respondent attorney to answer within 30 days and show why the imposition of identical discipline in Texas is not warranted. If the attorney fails to answer, BODA may enter judgment imposing discipline identical, to the extent possible, with that imposed in the second jurisdiction. Reciprocal cases are set for hearing en banc at the first available hearing following the answer date. Continuances may be granted for good cause.

A final judgment that an attorney has committed misconduct in another jurisdiction is conclusive for purposes of reciprocal discipline. To defend a reciprocal action, respondents must prove one of the available defenses under the TRDP by clear and convincing evidence. The respondent must argue that:

- the procedure followed in the other jurisdiction was so lacking in notice or opportunity to be heard as to constitute a deprivation of due process;

- there was such an infirmity of proof establishing the misconduct in the other jurisdiction as to give rise to the clear conviction the BODA should not accept as final the conclusion on the evidence reached in the other jurisdiction;
  - the imposition of identical discipline in Texas would result in grave injustice;
  - the misconduct warrants substantially different discipline in this state; or,
  - the misconduct in the other jurisdiction does not constitute professional misconduct in Texas.

If the respondent prevails, BODA may enter such order as it deems necessary and appropriate.

BODA may impose a sanction as a result of reciprocal discipline regardless of whether the respondent has completed the discipline (suspension, probated or partially-probated suspension) in the other jurisdiction.

BODA reciprocal decisions are appealed directly to the Supreme Court of Texas within 14 days of the date that the respondent receives notice of the judgment.

Revocations of Probation

BODA has exclusive original jurisdiction pursuant to TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE 2.23 to hear petitions to revoke probated suspensions imposed by a State Bar grievance committee. BODA has jurisdiction to hear petitions to revoke probation for the full term of the probated suspension. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel of the State Bar initiates a revocation of probation by filing a Motion to Revoke Probation on behalf of the Commission for Lawyer Discipline with BODA alleging that the respondent attorney has materially violated the terms and/or conditions of probation.

BODA hears motions to revoke en banc at the first available hearing date following service on the respondent. The Rules state that the matter must be heard within 30 days of the date that the respondent is served; however, continuances may be granted for good cause. BODA conducts an evidentiary hearing to determine whether the attorney has committed a material violation of the terms or conditions of probation. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel must prove a material violation by a preponderance of the evidence.

If BODA finds that the respondent has materially violated the terms or conditions of probation, BODA must actively suspend the attorney for the full term of the probation as originally assessed, without credit for any portion of the probationary period served. BODA cannot extend the probation, impose additional terms and conditions, or otherwise amend or modify the original judgment.

BODA decisions in revocation matters are directly appealable to the Supreme Court of Texas within 14 days of the date that the respondent attorney receives notice of the judgment.

Disability Cases and Reinstatements

BODA has exclusive original jurisdiction pursuant to Part XII of THE TEXAS RULES OF DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURE to suspend an attorney indefinitely who is suffering from a disability. A disability is any physical, mental, or emotional condition, with or without a substantive rule violation, which results in the attorney's inability to practice law or otherwise carry out his or her professional responsibilities to clients, the courts, the profession, or the public. BODA appoints specialized committees, the District Disability Committees, to hold an evidentiary hearing to determine whether the attorney is disabled as defined by the TRDP. These hearings are governed by Part VIII of the BODA Internal Procedural Rules. Disability proceedings are confidential except for a final judgment of indefinite suspension.

A disability referral may arise either during the initial investigation of a complaint or during the evidentiary hearing stage. A disability referral suspends the disciplinary process until BODA issues a final judgment concerning the disability. If, during its investigation of a complaint, the CDC reasonably believes that the respondent suffers from a disability, it must seek authority from the Commission for Lawyer Discipline to refer the respondent to BODA for a District Disability Committee hearing. The CDC forwards the complaint and any other relevant documentation to BODA. In these cases, the Commission bears the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent suffers from a disability.

An evidentiary panel may also find that a respondent is suffering from a disability and forward that finding to BODA. In these cases, the party asserting that the attorney suffers from a disability bears the burden of proof.

At any point in the disability process the respondent attorney may waive the District Disability Committee hearing and agree to an indefinite suspension. The respondent must submit a sworn affidavit that he understands the consequences of his actions, is competent to waive the hearing, and is competent to agree to the suspension.

When BODA receives a disability referral from either the Chief Disciplinary Counsel or an evidentiary panel, the chairman appoints a District Disability Committee to proceed de novo to determine whether the disability exists. Members of these committees include an attorney, a medical doctor or mental health care professional holding a doctoral degree, trained in the appropriate area, and one public member with no direct or indirect interest in the practice of law. The BODA deputy director serves as the clerk for the District Disability Committee proceedings. She manages all filing deadlines, sets hearings, and handles all motions and requests for appointment of counsel.

Within 20 days of BODA appointing the District Disability Committee, the CDC must file a proposed hearing order and serve it on the respondent. The respondent has 20 days from receipt of the CDC's order to file his own proposed order with BODA. The respondent attorney may request that BODA appoint an attorney to represent him during the disability proceeding.

The District Disability Committee conducts a closed hearing on the record to take evidence on the disability issue. The CDC may request an order directing the respondent attorney to undergo a physical and/or psychiatric exam, or the committee may so order the respondent on its own. The respondent may offer evidence from his own expert.

The District Disability Committee certifies its finding to BODA whether the respondent is suffering from a disability. If the attorney demonstrates that there is no likelihood of harm in his or her continued practice of law, the committee may recommend a probated disability suspension conditioned on the attorney complying with certain terms and requirements. The committee may develop a monitoring plan for the attorney as a condition of the probation and require periodic reports to the State Bar Chief Disciplinary Counsel's office, who supervises the probation. During a probation, the CDC may request modification of the conditions or move to revoke the probation.

Following receipt of the disability committee's finding regarding disability and recommendations, if any, BODA enters a judgment either suspending the attorney indefinitely, placing the attorney on a probated suspension, or - in the event of a finding of no disability -- returning the case to continue in the disciplinary process from the point where it was referred.

BODA has concurrent jurisdiction with state district courts to hear petitions for reinstatement after an indefinite disability suspension. A respondent may petition for reinstatement at any time after the imposition of an indefinite disability suspension. The attorney must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the reasons for the suspension no longer exist and that terminating the suspension will not endanger the public and the profession. BODA holds an evidentiary hearing en banc to determine whether the respondent has met the requirements for terminating the suspension and may require the respondent to undergo an exam by an appropriate health care provider.

The record of all proceedings on disability must be sealed and remain confidential, except as to the respondent. Only the order of indefinite suspension may be made public. BODA disability judgments and reinstatement judgments are appealed directly to the Supreme Court of Texas within 14 days of the date that the respondent receives notice of the judgment.

II. Appellate Jurisdiction

Grievance Screening and Classification Appeals

The office of the State Bar of Texas Chief Disciplinary Counsel ("CDC") screens every grievance alleging professional misconduct to determine whether the complaint describes conduct which, if true, would violate the TEXAS DISCIPLINARY RULES OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT. The CDC dismisses writings which they find do not allege misconduct as inquiries and classifies those warranting additional investigation as "complaints." If the CDC dismisses a grievance, the complainant can appeal that decision to BODA. Prior to January 1, 2004, either the complainant or respondent attorney could appeal the initial classification screening decision to the BODA. TEXAS GOVERNMENT CODE Section 81.073(b) (effective September 1, 2003; "State Bar Act") eliminated the respondent appeal for grievances filed on or after January 1, 2004.

When sending notice of a dismissal, the CDC informs the complainant that an appeal to BODA is available and includes the appeal form. The complainant signs the form and mails, faxes, or delivers it to BODA within 30 days of receiving the disposition. BODA enters notices of appeal and transmits the information to the CDC regional offices daily. Each regional office then forwards a copy of the original grievance as screened to BODA. Because BODA evaluates only the initial

screening decision on appeal, it reviews only the grievance and supporting documentation, if any, as originally filed. BODA cannot consider material submitted after the grievance was screened or independently investigate the allegations of misconduct.

BODA decides an average of over 200 classification appeals monthly by randomly assigning cases to three-member panels who discuss and decide the cases by telephone conference twice weekly with either the Executive Director or the Deputy Director. BODA notifies the parties of the decision by letter the day following the meeting. BODA disposes of appeals within two weeks from receipt of the grievance file from the State Bar. The BODA decision is final.

If BODA affirms a screening decision to dismiss a grievance, the complainant may refile the grievance with the CDC one time. If BODA reverses a decision to dismiss a grievance (“upgrading” or “classifying” as a complaint), the matter returns to the CDC for additional investigation. The CDC typically asks the attorney to provide a written response to the complaint. If the additional investigation refutes the allegations of misconduct, the matter is set for Summary Disposition before a panel of the appropriate district grievance committee. If the CDC finds just cause to believe that misconduct has occurred after additional investigation, he may attempt to negotiate a sanction with the attorney or proceed through an evidentiary hearing or a trial in district court.

Appeals from Evidentiary Judgments

BODA has appellate jurisdiction to review final judgments issued by an evidentiary panel of a State Bar of Texas district grievance committee. A respondent attorney against whom discipline has been imposed may appeal the finding(s) of professional misconduct, the sanction(s) imposed, or both. The Commission for Lawyer Discipline of the State Bar of Texas, represented by the Chief Disciplinary Counsel at the evidentiary hearing, may likewise appeal the finding(s), sanction(s), or decision to dismiss. For cases in process prior to January 1, 2004, the complainant in the original grievance, although technically not a party to the evidentiary hearing, could also appeal the judgment to BODA. The revisions to the State Bar Act effective September 1, 2003 eliminated complainant appeals.

Appeals to BODA from evidentiary judgments proceed similarly to civil appeals with a notice of appeal, record, briefs, and oral argument. The BODA Internal Procedural Rules Section 4 governing evidentiary appeals generally follow the TEXAS RULES OF APPELLATE PROCEDURE. In addition, the TRAP apply to the extent relevant and except where expressly changed by the Internal Rules. The average time for BODA to decide an evidentiary appeal from the date the notice of appeal is filed is 190 days.

The appellant must file the notice of appeal with BODA within 30 days after the date of judgment, except where a motion for new trial has been filed which extends the time for filing to 90 days. BODA notifies the parties the day that the appeal is filed when possible. The appellant must request, pay for, and file the reporter’s record from the evidentiary hearing with BODA within 30 days of the date the notice of appeal is filed. The CDC files the clerk’s record within 30 days of the notice of appeal. The appellant’s brief is due 30 days after the record, and the appellee’s brief is due 30 days thereafter. Parties may request filing extensions for good cause or with agreement of the other side. BODA may strike a brief that does not conform to the requirements set out in the Internal Rules or require a party to rebrief.

If a party fails to timely file the record or brief, BODA issues a show cause order describing the omission and requiring the party to show within 30 days why the appeal should not be dismissed. Failure to respond can result in the appeal being dismissed without further notice or hearing.

If one of the parties requests oral argument, the clerk sets the matter for the next available hearing date after briefing will be complete and notifies the parties. Whether to permit oral argument is discretionary with BODA but is generally granted. BODA may also require argument on its own motion. Each side is allowed 20 minutes to argue.

When briefing is complete, one of the BODA attorneys reviews the record and prepares a conference memo for the board. BODA routinely considers evidentiary appeals en banc although an evidentiary appeal (like any BODA matter) may be decided by a panel of three members. BODA reviews issues on appeal involving the sufficiency of evidence under the substantial evidence standard. Under this standard, the reviewing court must determine whether there is some reasonable basis in the record for the action taken below. BODA reviews questions of law de novo.

BODA may dismiss the appeal, affirm in whole or in part the decision, modify and affirm as modified, reverse in whole or in part and enter a finding it determines that the panel should have entered, or reverse and remand the cause for further proceedings. For cases filed after January 1, 2004, BODA may remand for a rehearing before a statewide grievance committee composed of six members, four attorneys and two non-attorneys, randomly selected from districts other than the one from which the appeal arose.

BODA may decide evidentiary appeals with or without opinion. BODA decisions are appealed directly to the Supreme Court. The appellant must file the notice of appeal directly with the clerk of the court within 14 days of receiving the BODA decision.

Classification Appeals Statistics

As of January 1, 2004, the effective date of the revised Texas Rules of Disciplinary Procedure, attorneys could no longer appeal grievance screening decisions to the Board of Disciplinary Appeals. BODA had previously compiled statistics for classification appeals by fiscal year (June 1-May 31). Statistics for 2004 are shown by both fiscal year and calendar year. For subsequent years, BODA will provide data by calendar year.

Cumulative Dockets

As of January 1, 2004, the effective date of the revised Texas Rules of Disciplinary Procedure, BODA began tracking case filings and dispositions by calendar year. BODA had previously compiled case statistics by fiscal year (June 1-May 31). Cumulative dockets for prior calendar years are currently being added to the BODA Web site at www.txboda.org.
